THE LONG VOWEL...

Washington once was considered a Southern capital city, its land carved out of Virginia and Maryland, whose neighboring acreage is now suburban Washington gone sprawling.

The Atlanta-based Carterites who are "fixin'" to hit Washington will change a lot of speech mannerisms, perhaps restoring a bit of the old South to the language of bureaucrats, Boston, Texas, and New York City...

Examples of "Southernese" are borrowed here from a paperback now on newsstands called "How To Speak Southern" by Palm Beach, Fla., Post columnist Steve Mitchell. It is illustrated by Post cartoonist Sam C. Rawls. Bantam Books is publisher.

AH--The things you see with and the personal pronoun denoting individuality. "Ah think Ah've got sometin' in mah ah."

AWL--An amber fluid used to lubricate engines. "Ah like that car, but it sure does use a lot of awl."

GRIYUTS--What no Southern breakfast would be complete without--grits. "Ah like griyuts with butter and sale on 'em, but Ah purley love 'em with red-eye gravy."

RATCHEER--On this spot, "Just put the groceries down ratcheer."

TARRED--"Ah'm too tarred to go bowlin' tonight."

SHALOT--The biggest city in Nawth Calina. "People who live in Shalot are called Shallotteans."

AHMOAN--An expression of intent. "Ahmaon have a little drink. You want one?"

HALE--Where General Sherman is going for what he did to Etlanma. "General Sherman said 'War is hale,' and he made sure it was."

ETLANNA--The city General Sherman burned during the War for Southern Independence. "Etlanma is kind of like New York with pecan trees."

NOW-NOW-NOW

AHN SO AHN...

It's too bad Sherman didn't melt some vocal cords. Or maybe he did.

Santa Letter Unique

ROCKDALE

A letter to Santa from Rockdale Reporter editor Bill Cooke headline that newspaper last week as he asked, "All we want for Christmas--is State!" He noted that this the second team in Rockdale school history to approach winning the state title, and invited Santa to fly by and watch the showdown.

Petition Opposes Patrolman

MCGREGOR

Following a two-hour discussion with members of the Mexican-American community and receiving a petition bearing 356 signatures opposing the rehiring of Guadalupe DeLeon as patrolman, the McGregor City Council last Wednesday night expressed support of the patrolman and refused to take any action against him. The head of a delegation explained that the Mexican-American community is afraid of DeLeon.

Pecans To Get Help

GEORGETOWN

Pecan tree owners in Williamson County may have lost this year's battle, but a new leader has been brought in to help win the war. The 1976 crop was almost a complete failure, but there is new hope for next year's pecan crop as Williamson County becomes the first county in Texas to have a fulltime pecan specialist working at the county Extension office.

Swine Flu Program Stops

TEMPLE

The director of the Bell County Health Department said Thursday he cannot believe reports that swine flu shots have caused temporary paralysis, but he has instructed health department clerks in Belton, Temple, and Killeen to discontinue the swine flu shots. His comments came after state and national officials ordered a halt to swine flu shots for at least two weeks because of concern over a possible connection to a disease which causes paralysis.

Marijuana Charges Dropped

GATESVILLE

Seven local high school students apprehended by Gatesville police Dec. 5 on charges of possession of a small amount of marijuana have been released without action or hearing, it was announced by the juvenile probation officer. He added that none of the students actually had the drug in his possession.

$2 Million Suit Filed

LAMPASAS

Another first was recorded at the Lampasas courthouse recently when what is believed to be the largest judgement ever entered on county records was filed with the county clerk. The judgement for $2,035,354.02 was entered against Billie Sol Estes by the Northern District of U.S. District Court in Amarillo in January 1967 and filed in Lampasas County on November 16. The Pacific Finance Corp. is the plaintiff in the case.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING is going on in local stores at a good pace, as evidenced by these two ladies who were looking over the toys. Sales are expected to top those of last year which were turned very good for a "recession" year.

Museum Group Plans Drive For Memberships

A membership drive for the county museum is being planned in conjunction with the museum's opening sometime in January or February, according to plans discussed at the museum association meeting last week.

Work is progressing on security for downstairs windows, as the ag class from Yoe High School is welding steel bars to the window frames on the inside.

Once the windows are secure, exhibits can be accepted and stored in readiness for exhibiting, museum officials said. A committee will decide on certain exhibitions, then ask county residents to loan or donate items for that particular exhibit, chairman Mary Belle Batte said.

Kay Green suggested having an exhibition on the various sheriffs who have served the county and lived in the old jail, now the site for the county museum.

Miss Batte said the museum now has enough display cases, all the building has space for. Several cases have been donated and some of the largest will be cut in half to fit into the downstairs rooms.

James Lafferty suggested cutting old bricks salvaged from the roof into small bricks to be sold as mementoes, raising funds for the museum.

The museum committee will meet again on January 11.

School Holidays

School will dismiss for the holidays and buses will run at 2:45 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 22. Classes will resume Jan 3 on a normal schedule.

Rosebud Hires Lowrey For Marshal's Post

ROSEBUD

A Milam County constable has been hired by the City of Rosebud as city marshal to replace a marshal who resigned along with his assistant.

Maurice Lowrey, now Milam County constable of Precinct 1, will take office in Rosebud Jan. 1. He will fill the post vacated Sept. 1 by John Curtis. Curtis and the assistant city marshal, Charles West, resigned for what they described as conflict with the city council and left the city without an official police department.

City Manager Dan Roark said in the wake of the resignations police work in Rosebud has been done by Falls County Constable R. J. Brannon and Falls County Deputy Sheriff Kenneth Vanick. They were assisted by Mose Hill, a part-time assistant

United Way Agency

Baseball Program Serves Youth

(Another in a series about United Way agencies. A drive for $10,000 is currently underway in Cameron.)

Cameron's Little League Association is a growing, going concern, sponsoring a program during the summer that involves a large group of boys and girls.

One of the biggest problems faced by the association during past years has been the scheduling a large number of ball games each week. This was alleviated in 1974 by the building of a new Little League field at Cameron airport.

William Kelm, president of the association, said plans are underway to build a second field at the airport which will be a regulation size field for pony league and adult games.

Contract has been let for fencing the new field, but the high cost ($20,000) of lighting is beyond the association's finances at this time. The old field near Safeway can still be used for night games. It is also being used by girls softball teams.

Some 164 boys in 13 teams joined in baseball play last summer, with two pony league teams, six minor league teams and five little league teams.

Support for the program comes from concession stand sales by members of the Ladies Auxillary, who donate sandwiches for the stand, and sell other goodies during the games.

But with large numbers of players and expense for a new field, more support is needed than can be provided by the concession stand. United Way monies can be used for the new field, or for new equipment. Support for the program also comes from businessmen and interested individuals.

All labor for the new field was donated by individuals and businessmen, and a substantial discount was received on materials for the concession stand, the seating area, and the restrooms. Cost of the second new field will be reduced since these facilities are already built.

The city helps out in the baseball program by furnishing utilities for the fields.

Kelm said the association hopes for a better program next summer, with more boys signing up for the summer play. The Little League program is the only one presently in operation that involves such a number of youth, giving them an opportunity for recreation during the summer months.

YoungMilanoCowboy Wins Place In Finals

A young Milano cowboy was named the world's second place winner in calf roping at the 1976 National Finals Rodeo held in Oklahoma City Dec. 3-12.

He is Butch Bode, whose exploits along the rodeo circuit have won many a purse and honor as he travels from one contest to another, finally ending in the contest for world championships.

Only the top 15 money winners from 1976 competition in each of rodeo's six events can enter the National Finals Rodeo. Butch was in fifth place in world competition for the finals.

Butch, 24, and his wife Vicky live in Milano. They travel together to various rodeos over the country and Vicky said she just goes along, not being a cowgirl to enter any of the contests.

Bode participated in about 75 rodeos during this past year. Some of them included the rodeo at Dallas, where he was named Best All-Round Cowboy, winning first in steer wrestling and calf roping. He also won first in calf roping at the Ft. Smith, Arkansas rodeo and was also best All-Round Cowboy in the Phoenix,

Unemployment Low In Milam, TEC Report Says

Of the four counties served by the Temple office of the Texas Employment Commission, Milam and Hamilton both have the lowest rate of unemployment, 2.9 percent.

Other counties include Bell with a 6.0 percent rate and Coryell with 4.4 percent. The Commission reports the Texas rate at 5.3 percent compared with the U. S. rate which was 7.2 in October.

Preliminary data for October 1976 showed 237 persons unemployed in Milam County out of a civilian labor force figured at 8,166.

Sales Tax Rebates Increase

City sales tax rebates for area cities ranged from $19,708.23 for Cameron to $964,73 for Buckholts as totals were released from State Comptroller Bob Bullock on Thursday.

Bullock said that Texas cities received a total of $302.8 million in city sales tax rebates during the 1976 calendar year, a 14.4 percent increase over 1975.

"The jingling of those cash registers has been music to ears, both at the state and city level," Bullock said.

Rebate checks were mailed to 864 cities as their December rebate of the one-cent sales tax.

Other totals for the area, include: Hearne, $15,358.43; Lott, $4,144.45; Rogers, $3,655.22; Rosebud, $4,839.89; Rockdale, $17,533.10; Thorndale, $3,797.55; Caldwell, $11,419.51; and Calvert, $2,271.30.

The biggest check--$10.3 million--went to the City of Houston. Tiny Bloomburg will receive the smallest--$4.42.

The city sales tax is collected by retailers along with the four percent state sales tax. The Comptroller's office rebates to the cities their share on a monthly basis.

Commissioners Ask Valuation On Oil, Gas

A short agenda took county commissioners attention at a regular meeting Thursday morning, however, they took the first step toward placing oil and gas valuations on the county tax roll.

At commissioners request, County Judge O. B. Harden said he will contact the firm of Thomas Y. Pickett & Co. of Dallas to begin appraising oil and gas property in the county.

The firm is at present working on similar valuations for the Milano School District.

In other business, Judge Harden reported that the county wolftrapper, Clifford Morgan, will be out of service for a time because of illness. He read a letter from the U. S. Dept. of Interior Fish and Wildlife Service district supervisor in which the supervisor said if any county landowner needs help to advise that office.

Pragmatic, Intellectual, Liberal...

President-elect Jimmy Carter is naming key advisors and his cabinet, but the names thus far are hardly new in toto to federal government.

Rep. Andrew Young, to be U. S. Ambassador to the UN, is an Atlanta congressman. Charles Schultze, former budget advisor in the Johnson Administration, is to chair the Council of Economic Advisors. Zbigniew Brzezinski, Columbia University professor and confidante to Carter on foreign affairs, is somewhat new as his national security advisor.

But Cyrus Vance at State is an old hand whose track record in diplomacy runs through several previous administrations.

Another congressman, Rep. Brock Adams, of Washington, will be secretary of transportation. New to Washington is Mike Blumenthal, brilliant board chairman of Bendix Corp., as secretary of treasury.

The level of competence is high. Brzezinski was on the Harvard University faculty during the 1950s with Henry Kissinger, whose eight years as advisor to Nixon and Ford, are without parallel in modern power diplomacy. But Brzezinski says he will defer to Secretary-designate Vance in foreign policy.

If these appointments are the basis for the Carter Cabinet, the view of the new administration is toward a four-year approach to problem solving. Every effort seems to be underway to defer to the new President, who is not going to change as many things in Washington, nor as fast, as his campaign rhetoric suggested.

Carter is apparently avoiding charges of minority over-influence by picking key people on balance with both old and new Washington hands. He is being criticized by "insiders" for looking at lists of nominees half filled with "old names." Vance is one such nominee who fits the measurements Carter gives State after eight years of detente-making.

But Carter is anything but an iconoclast in appointing his keymen from the outside. He has also asked Congress to look toward re-organization plans, but Speaker-elect Tip O'Neill has already told the press that Pennsylvania Avenue is a "two-way street". Considering that Speaker-elect O'Neill and Majority-leader-elect Jim Wright have power bases all their own, Mr. Carter is hardly able to ram through re-organization without the usual quid pro-quo common to centers of power.

If anything, Jimmy Carter is doing a 1976 version in cabinet-making of 1960 presidential nominee, John F. Kennedy. Arthur Burns remains federal reserve chairman, the first bridge to the corporate community even as Fritz Mondale, the vice-president designate, was the first bridge to the labor community.

The base is pragmatic, the insight intellectual, the direction liberal.

Armstrong Choosey...

We note that Bob Armstrong, Texas Land Commissioner, early Jimmy Carter supporter and co-chairman of the successful Texas Carter for President organization, is not looking for just another job.

He tells the press his only interest in the Carter Administration would be a Cabinet post, not some appointive post among the thousands around Washington.

Bob Armstrong is smart. Avid Carter boosters already have learned the cost of housing, compared even to Atlanta, is horrendous just another eye-opener for the Georgians-gone-to-Washington.

A professor at the University of Texas at Austin and Texas Ag Commissioner, John C. White also has been contacted by Carter recruiters. None has yet been asked to Washington.

Armstrong has been mentioned for Secretary of Interior or assistant secretary. White has been touted for secretary of agriculture, said to be in the final five for consideration.

Whether any Texan goes into the Carter Cabinet, it is wise for Armstrong to realize the rewards for boosting a winner assures no instant career improvement at the federal level.

BREAKUP OF SUPER TANKER TORREY CANYON, MARCH 27, 1967 "The dramatic increase in size [of tankers] involves serious consequences to the environment"

Oceans: Our Continuing Frontier

THE SEA -- CONNECTOR OR BARRIER

By Herman Kahn

Editor's Note: This is the 13th of 16 articles in the series "Oceans: Our Continuing Frontier." In this article, Herman Kahn of the Hudson Institute discusses recent developments in merchant shipping, which has become increasingly important to the world economy and increasingly dangerous to the environment. These articles, which explore the whole range of human involvement with the sea, were written for Courses by Newspaper, a program developed by University Extension, University of California, San Diego, and funded by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Copyright 1976 by the Regents or the University of California.

The oceans have played two very different roles in human history.

Very often, as in the Mediterranean, even relatively primitive seafarers could hug the coast, using the sea as a free, natural highway for trade and colonization. However, the oceans, especially the Pacific and the Atlantic, were imposing barriers to serious commerce.

The extent to which the largest ocean of all, the Pacific, will now become an efficient connector rather than a barrier is one of the more interesting questions for the next decade. If this occurs, the countries of the Pacific basin (including some nations such as Brazil which technically do not border on the Pacific Ocean, but whose commerce and financial relations increasingly involve nations which do) would surely form a relatively tight Trading and Investment Community.

Such a development would represent a new stage in the march of history which focused first on the Mediterranean and then on the North Atlantic. I am suggesting also that a remarkable amalgam of Western, Chinese, and Indian cultures will be created around the Pacific basin "connector." In some ways Singapore is a prototype of the new culture since it mixes Western (mainly American and British) with Sinitic (Chinese and Japanese) roots and adds a significant Indian influence.

The likelihood that the Pacific Ocean will increasingly become a connector of nations and peoples does not, of course, depend simply on shipping. For the Pacific to work effectively in this way, new telecommunications systems are needed that can tie organizations together almost as tightly as if they were in the same building. Supersonic aircraft seem likely, eventually, to facilitate the movement of key personnel and objects and thus further stimulate the interconnectedness of this area.

But the most important single ingredient for drawing this huge region together would be a continuation of the extremely vigorous economic growth which has been occurring there since World War II. This seems likely for the next decade or two.

A NATURAL HIGHWAY

To a considerable extent, the sea is a great natural highway. No energy is required to keep masses of goods afloat, and little to overcome the modest friction of water, unless high speed is wanted.

Thus a freighter can carry ten thousand tons on one-fortieth of power required to move a jet carrying perhaps one hundred tons--at thirty times the speed. Even on expensive roads, a car requires a thirtieth of the freighter's power to move a payload of perhaps a quarter-ton at three times the freighter's speed. And, until recently, extensive paved highways have been built in only a very few parts of the world. It is hardly surprising then, that a great part of the world's commerce has always moved--and still moves--by water.

BULK CARRIERS

At the moment, the best way of moving great masses of homogeneous material is by the so-called VLCC (Very Large Crude Carrier). The larger the ship, the less fuel it has to expend per ton transported. Thus, the size of tankers has mushroomed from individual capacities to twenty thousand tons in 1945 to 9.5 million tons 30 years later.

The dramatic increase in size involves serious consequences to the environment (in the event of disaster at sea) and to the pattern of port use (most ports cannot accommodate very large tankers). In a future war--or other situation of violence such as terrorism--ships will provide fewer targets of individually greater value--and individually far more difficult to replace or salvage.

Currently there is much study of the possibility of moving large tonnage by submersibles--or even by a train of submersible "plastic" bags towed by submarines. Both theory and experiment indicate that such submersible transportation should have very low resistance if moving slowly and should result in large savings of energy.

Oil is by no means the only bulk commodity to move by sea. For well over half a century, the steel mills of Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Michigan have been fed by iron ore from the mines of Minnesota--carried across the Great Lakes in big bulk carriers of specialized design. More recently large iron ore carriers have been built for the international trade; other ships cater to bauxite, grain, and even wine. Luckily, operators of large bulk carriers are able to some extent to shift their ships from one trade to another as trading conditions have changed.

CONTAINER SHIPS

The rise in bulk trade has been paralleled by a rise in the trade in manufactured goods, which were traditionally handled in small lots. Since unloading a large ship piece by piece is a lengthy and uneconomical process, the container has been developed. Goods move into a ship prepackaged in sealed metal containers, which can be loaded and unloaded rapidly and may be transferred on land to trucks or railroad cars.

Another modern innovation is the registration of ships controlled by owners in advanced industrial nations--with high labor costs, taxes, and safety standards--to so-called flags of convenience, like Liberia. This stratagem doesn't mean that these ships completely evade regulation. Since all operators must carry insurance, the insurance companies are very vigilant in examining what really counts in terms of the risks they accept. As a result, despite much concern, safety standards are reasonably good for the ships and the fireman.

THE "COST" OF ECONOMY

One problem, however, is that economies of scale have dictated larger and larger ships, and the longer the ship, the easier it is to drive with fewer horsepower per ton of ships. But this also means "with less and less effective steering" since the efficacy of a ship's rudder depends on the volume of water (i.e., the power) thrust upon it by the propeller.

Economics also dictates smaller crews and a reduction in duplicate systems. That is, the potential on-board repair force shrinks, while the significance of the items in question grows. The consequences of poor maintenance of such large ships can be very serious indeed--and not for the ship alone. If an inexperienced crew runs an underpowered supertanker aground, a very nasty and highly visible oil spill can easily result. Furthermore, the shipowner's vulnerability to the legal vengeance of those who suffer from the spill is reduced by the use of flags of convenience, which can lead to a welter of confused jurisdictions.

The dominant feature of modern commercial shipping, then, is the rise in both the size and number of cargo carriers. The larger ships are usually faster but less maneuverable than their smaller predecessors. Since they can use fewer ports, the greatest sea lanes have become increasingly congested. Indeed, radar ship control similar in spirit to the aircraft control at busy airports has already been introduced in some ports. A corollary trend has been much more careful sounding of coastal waters as ships have grown in draft.

FUTURE TRENDS

An opposite trend must also be mentioned. While conventional ships are limited to speeds below fifty miles per hour (considerably less if they are to be economical), new technologies (hydrofoils and vehicles riding on an air cushion) promise ship-like vehicles capable of up to twice this limit--albeit with limited payloads. Such vehicles, which could cross the Atlantic in little over a day, may revive the long-range passenger traffic lost to the airlines. It seems likely that the means of ocean commerce will proliferate and its volume increase even more in the future than in the past.

Future Generations Fate Hinges On World Climate

A benign climate has smiled on the world for the last 10,000 years and civilization has thrived. But where things go from here is anyone's guess.

The questions facing worried climatologists are: Is the world as a whole cooling off, and perhaps heading into another onset of huge ice sheets? Or are we instead warming the atmosphere of our planet irreversibly with our industry, automobiles, and land clearing practices?

What sort of weather will our children know?

Man is Wild Card

The fate of nations and of millions of people may depend on the answers. "Whatever the answers, all agree there is a new factor in the game of climate change, a 'wild card' never there before—man himself," reports Samuel W. Matthews in the November National Geographic. "For the first time in earth's long history, climatologists agree, human activities may be beginning to affect weather and climate on a par with natural forces."

One expert, Dr. Reid A. Bryson of the University of Wisconsin, calls the overall effect of man's activities—his smoke, tractor dust, jet exhaust, smog from cities—"the human volcano." Man is indeed a factor in the climate equation, he asserts, and may be the decisive factor.

Many scientific efforts are under way to assess man's impact on climate.

The most detailed study of earth's atmosphere ever conducted will begin in 1978 as part of the United Nations' Global Atmospheric Research Programme.

In a 24-month period, monitoring stations, ships, planes, buoys, balloons, rockets, and satellites will attempt to track air and moisture movements and temperature variations over every region of earth's surface.

Meanwhile, temperatures continue to change, storm tracks and drought belt shift, volcanoes erupt, and inner churning move continents and build mountains, which block and switch circulation of the atmosphere and the seas.

Global Temperature Dips
Since about 1940 the average global temperature has fallen about half a degree Fahrenheit—even more in high latitudes of the Northern Hemisphere.

England's annual growing season has shrunk by nine or ten days between 1950 and 1966, and in the northern tier of the United States Midwest, summer frosts again occasionally damage crops.

Sea ice has returned to Iceland's coasts after more than 40 years of virtual absence. Glaciers in Alaska and Scandinavia have slowed their recession; some in Switzerland have begun advancing again.

Yet, oddly, in the eastern United States, western Soviet Union, and much of Europe the winters of 1973 and 1975 were the warmest in decades. And recent studies have hinted that the Southern Hemisphere may be warming by at least as much as the Northern has been cooling off. There are some indications that the Northern, too, may be warming up.

All this leaves the experts scratching their heads. Concludes Matthews: "Man still does not really know what controls and changes his climate, his daily weather, his seasonal comfort, his year-by-year livelihood, and the crucial boundary conditions of life."

DAVID SIMMONS

Navy Mess Management Specialist David E. Simmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Simmons of Rt. 1, Rockdale, recently participated in Exercise "Readex 2-77" off the southern California coast.

He is a crewmember aboard the frigate USS Bradley, homeported in Long Beach, Calif.

Texas Ranks Last In State Aid

AUSTIN
State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Tuesday an analysis by his office shows that Texas ranks last among the 50 states in per capita state aid to cities and counties. Bullock said that Texas' 254 counties received $3.30 per capita from the state during the 1976 fiscal year, while the cities received $3.27 per person.

"Take this money away," Bullock said, "and then watch local property taxes."

Only $31 million of the $72 million allotted to cities and counties by the state in fiscal 1976 came from state revenues, according to Bullock. The remaining $41 million came from the federal government.

The counties received a total of $40 million in fiscal 1976, while the cities received $32 million.

The analysis is contained in the December financial statement published by Vernon McGehee's Planning and Research Division.

The statement also reports that energy related taxes continued to play a vital role in the state's economy during fiscal 1976.

Taxes on the production of oil and gas, consumption of motor fuel and utility receipts brought in more than $12.

billion, accounting for one-third of the total revenue raised by the state, according to the report.

DARWIN, AUSTRALIA

For something like 30,000 years, Australian aboriginal artists have painted the myths and legends of their country and the pictures have stayed hidden on the walls of caves or in secret ceremonial places. Now, gradually, the paintings of the great aboriginal artists are being seen as prime examples of a unique art form, and the great bark slabs are hung proudly beside European canvases.

LONDON

The sinking pound sterling is giving a seasonal boost to shoplifters as thousands of overseas visitors throng London's main shopping district this month to take advantage of favorable exchange rates. Among the international crowds bustling around store counters is an unhealthy sprinkling of crooks who have helped turn London's fashionable west end into a paradise for pilferers.

PARIS

The Paris city council plans to breathe new life into the River Seine next summer by feeding compressed air to oxygen-starved fish. The plan, already used successfully in Sweden and West Germany, is to lay a plastic tube under the Seine as it flows by Notre Dame Cathedral. This will bubble air into the river to revive the city's fish colony, decimated in last summer's sizzling drought by lack of oxygen.

TOKYO

A group of teachers and housewives is campaigning for an end to compulsory sex segregation in Japan's state-run schools. The "Koteka Kai" group wants equal educational opportunities for children regardless of sex and a change in the traditional Japanese educational philosophy that boys should be trained for a career and girls for the home. The organization is gaining increasing support in its campaign to pressure the education ministry.

LONDON

Evidence is growing that the Soviet Union suffered a nuclear disaster almost 20 years ago, but its scope, nature and location remain very much in doubt. Professor Leo Tumerman of the chemical physics department of the Weizmann Institute of Science in Israel has supported the claim of Soviet dissident Dr. Zhores Medvedev that a nuclear accident devastated a large area of the Ural Mountains in late 1957 or early 1958.

SALISBURY

Rhodesia has developed a number of little-known but highly effective anti-guerrilla units during its four year border war against black nationalist forces. One of the toughest is known as the selous scouts--a crack, multi-racial unit which operates along the lines of the United States Green Berets. They are believed to have spearheaded the Rhodesian raids on guerrilla camps in neighboring Mozambique. All are specialist bush fighters.

Millions of small tropical farmers could have a more secure future following an international price stabilization agreement between the world's leading natural rubber producers. But after two years of talks the producing countries now face another task--convincing industrialized nations that the rubber price plan is not directed against their interests as consumers.

LEBANON

Tension between the leftist-Palestinian alliance and Israeli-backed right wingers along Lebanon's southern border with Israel is posing a threat to the ceasefire Syrian troops have imposed elsewhere in the country. If trouble erupts anew, this stone-built mountain village only 10 miles from the Israeli frontier is severely exposed to right wing and Israeli artillery. Bint Jbail is the southernmost position held by the leftists and Palestinians.

MOUNT DARWIN, RHODESIA

The twisted wreck of a truck lying beside the dirt road testifies to one of the most frightening hazards of the four-year-old war in Rhodesia: the landmine. Travelers in the "operational areas" which occupy much of Rhodesia's border zones argue that in an ambush or an attack on a farm, the individual can protect himself with the guns which most people carry in their cars or keep in their homes. The landmine strikes unawares and indiscriminately.

PUERTO STROESSNER, PARAGUAY

Paraguay and Brazil, once bitter enemies, are taking part in the most ambitious project in the history of Latin American cooperation. Two years ago, they began building a giant hydro-electric dam which, when completed in the mid 1980s, will be the biggest in the world in generating capacity. The site they chose on the upper Parana River, their common border about 121 miles north of here, is called Itaipu.

Work Set To Desalt Brazos River

WASHINGTON
Cog. W. R. ("Bob") Poage has announced that the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will soon begin work on the initial stages of construction on a desalinization program to remove natural salt pollution from the Brazos River.

A total of $650 thousand has been appropriated for use by the Corps in the initial engineering and design studies for controlling the salt pollution in the upper tributaries of the Brazos River.

The Corps of Engineers plans to place an evaporation plant at the point which three salt-laden streams meet a fork of the Brazos River in northeast Stonewall County. The plant will impound the flow of the three streams before they enter the Brazos. The water will then be evaporated in the soon - to - be constructed plant, leaving the lower Brazos free of the natural salt pollutants from the three streams.

Cong. Poage first proposed the Brazos desalinization program several years ago and has worked vigorously for it since. Says the Congressman, the Brazos desalinization program will improve the quality of Brazos water used for municipal, rural and agricultural consumption.

THE DEMOCRATIC SYSTEM and the free-enterprise system are branches of the same tree.

Despite closing of Mexican waters to the Texas shrimp fleet in 1976, this year record landings of all species of shrimp are being recorded at Texas ports.

For the 10-month period between January and October 1976, nearly 42.7 million pounds of brown, pink, and white shrimp were landed in the state. The dock-side value of the catch was set at $102 million, making Texas shrimp one of the most valuable fisheries in the nation.

Harvest of shrimp off the Texas coast has been good this year for a variety of reasons, according to Terry Leary, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department shellfish program director.

As of Nov. 1, shrimp landings from Texas waters were almost eight million pounds ahead of the 1975 10-month period. Since Aug. 1, 1976 no U. S. boats have been allowed within 200 miles of the Mexican coast. During the first week of December, however, the U. S. and Mexico ratified an agreement whereby a limited number of U. S. vessels will be allowed to harvest shrimp within Mexico's 200-mile territorial boundary. The agreement is scheduled to go into effect during 1977.

"The fact that no U. S. vessels were allowed to harvest within Mexican territorial waters after Aug. 1, 1976, is a reflection of how good the harvest from U. S. waters was," Leary said.

During 1975, the 35 million pounds harvested represented catches made by Texas shrimpers in the Gulf waters off Texas and Mexico. The 10-month, 42 million pounds harvested this year reflected catches made off the U. S. coast only.

NEWS Of Senior Citizens

The Good Life
Fewer Americans today are letting the prospect of their 65th birthday bother them, and more are looking at it as only a number for the records.

In fact, senior citizens today are enjoying a multitude of leisure activities. Among the most popular are fishing, golf, handicrafts, collecting and gardening.

HAPPINESS—For many senior citizens it's a pleasant home that isn't beyond their budget.

Turkey Down, But Coffee Up

AUSTIN

Texas consumers may be gobbling up lower turkey prices but are washing them down with bitterly increasing coffee costs, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White commented today in releasing the third monthly statewide market basket survey.

While Texas shoppers realized a savings of up to ten cent a pound on turkey in November, the latest market basket survey conducted by the Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA) shows a 20 percent increase in the cost of a pound of coffee.

Total statewide cost of the survey's 20 commonly-purchased grocery store items averaged $18.19 in November, down slightly from the $18.26 compiled a month earlier.

Consumers celebrate savings of turkeys in Texas at the same time that many producers in the state are bemoaning losses of more than $1 per bird.

According to Commissioner White, many turkey producers over-estimated this year's demand in light of last season's higher red meat prices. The result, increased turkey output this fall in competition with current decreases in red meat retail prices, have clipped turkey production profits to practically nothing.

"Instead, most turkey operations are being forced into the red," he explained.

Coffee prices, on the other hand, are expected to continue their upswing, White said, the result of dramatically decreased world supplies due to a frost in Brazil last year which killed 550 million trees and damaged half of the country's remaining coffee-producing trees.

Cotton Ads Winners At Olympics

Cotton was a winner at the 1976 summer Olympics. That is the finding of an extensive survey of the effectiveness of Cotton Incorporated advertising during television coverage of the summer Olympics at Montreal.

The survey showed that television viewer awareness of the cotton seal, emblem of the U. S. cotton producer, increased 42 percent during the Olympics.

The survey also showed that interest in buying all-cotton or mostly-cotton products increased 22 percent among the television viewers sampled.

"The survey showed that our sponsorship of the Olympics on television was a worth while investment," says Donald S. Kleckner, vice-president of marketing services for Cotton Incorporated. Cotton Incorporated is the fiber company of U. S. cotton producers.

CT College Continues Registration

Pre-registration is continuing at Central Texas College through Jan. 13 and 14 with final registration on those two dates. Class instruction begins Jan. 17, 1977. Early pre-registration enables a student to have a better selection of spring semester classes.

A $5 non-refundable fee which is applicable toward final tuition and fees is required at the time of pre-registration. All tuition and fees just be paid in full not later than Jan. 14, 1977.

Students are reminded that they must have a copy of their immunization record at the time they register for classes. State law prohibits a student from registering at a state supported institution without proper immunizations.

Prospective students must make an appointment with the department chairperson, or the counseling office to plan appropriate course work. Call Central Texas College Information at 532-1211 if you desire to talk with a particular chairperson, or the counseling office at 526-1222.

The bristlecone pines growing in California's White Mountains are estimated to be more than 4,600 years old, making them the oldest living trees in the world.

Farm Bureau Elects Head, Approves Resolutions

FORT WORTH — Carol Chaloupka, Dahart feed grain and cattle producer, was re-elected president of the 195,000 member Texas Farm Bureau at the conclusion of the organization's four-day meeting here Dec. 8.

Following adjournment of the convention, the TFB Board of Directors met and named Henry Burton, Lufkin egg producer, as vice president, and re-elected Reed Laag of Rio Hondo, grain, cotton, and citrus producer, as secretary-treasurer.

Three new directors were elected by voting delegates, replacing three men who were ineligible for re-election due to a six-year limitation rule.

During the final two days of the convention, the 1,000 voting delegates from 160 counties adopted state policies to guide the TFB next year, and also approved recommendations on national issues. The latter are being forwarded to the American Farm Bureau Federation for consideration at its annual meeting Jan. 9-11 in Honolulu.

TFB took a stand in support of the effort to increase the "dollar a bale" cotton promotion and research program. The referendum on the cotton check-off will be conducted by mail Dec. 13-17.

Delegates also took a new position on Brucellosis control which calls for a strong emphasis on voluntary calfhood vaccination and an adult vaccination program for problem quarantined herds.

In other state-level policy matters, delegates:

- Favored the use of the state sales tax to finance public education in lieu of ad valorem taxes.
- Asked for a well-head tax on Texas-produced gas and oil to be used to lower school taxes.
- Opposed labor organizers having access to individual farms for the purpose of organizing farm workers. They also opposed picketing or demonstrating on private property.
- Asked that jurisdiction over natural gas be taken from the Railroad Commission and transferred to the Texas Utilities Commission.
- In the matter of national recommendations, delegates:
- Said top priority should be given to agriculture on all sources of energy.

Walter E. Michalke of Pittsburg, northern regional manager of Alcoa Conductor Products Company, has been named Alcoa's southwest area power manager with headquarters at the firm's Rockdale Works.

Michalke, a native of Harlingen, was graduated from the University of Texas at Austin in 1949 with an electrical engineering degree. He began his Alcoa career in 1950 at the Dallas sales office. Subsequent assignments were in the Charlotte, N. C., and San Francisco, Calif. sales offices from 1950 until 1965.

He transferred to the corporate office in Pittsburgh in 1965 to become sales manager of transmission and distribution conductors in the electrical marketing division. Michalke was named marketing manager of the division in 1966.

There's more to ginning cotton than just separating the lint from the lint. In modern cotton production, much work of the gin is to remove trash from the seed cotton. Sometimes a stripper harvests as much trash—sticks, leaves, dirt—as it does seed cotton. Cleaning the seed cotton in the gin costs money and time.

But relief may be on the way. New equipment designed to pre-clean seed cotton before it reaches the gin is being tested by Cotton Incorporated and agricultural engineers at Texas A&M University.

The new equipment, says J. K. ("Farmer") Jones, is called a feeder-cleaner.

Jones is associate director of agricultural research for Cotton Incorporated, the fiber company of U. S. cotton producers.

Ham For Holidays

For a festive table with a difference, Polish canned ham can be starred in a variety of dishes that are elegant, yet easy to make.

Since this incomparably flavored canned ham (Alameda, Polka and Krakus brands) is already fully cooked, it need only be heated through. And you can eat every bite because there's no fat or bone.

Here is one main dish for your holiday table that your family and guests will think you spent all day preparing. Serve it with whipped sweet potatoes flavored with cinnamon to blend well with both the ham and the pineapple-orange glaze.

ORANGE BLOSSOM HAM
1 (6 pounds) Polish
canned ham
1 can (6 ounces) frozen orange-pineapple juice concentrate, thawed
1/2 cup crushed pineapple
1/4 cup honey
1/4 teaspoon ground allspice
1 orange, sliced and halved

Bake ham in shallow baking pan, uncovered, in 325°F oven 1 1/2 hours. Using sharp thin knife, make parallel cuts, 1/2-inch deep and 1/4-inch apart in top of ham. Insert orange slices into each cut. Stir together juice, pineapple, honey and allspice. Brush over ham and oranges. Continue to bake, brushing frequently, about 30 minutes, or until ham and oranges are richly glazed. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

Study Shows Cactus Is Nutritious Forage

AUSTIN—Cactus is a sticky problem no matter how you look at it. Many Texas ranches are well-stocked with prickly pear cactus, but cattle turn up their noses at it, even during the winter when rangeland is at a minimum.

Recent studies, however, have shown that singing the spines off prickly pear cactus makes the desert weed a palatable, nutritious winter forage for livestock.

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White noted that this discovery could be especially important in the arid Plains region of Texas. The study showed that heifers fed singed prickly pear cactus gained an average of 1-1/2 pounds per day, compared with less than one pound gained by heifers fed only enough hay to approximate the nutrition normally acquired from winter forage.

The results of one feeding trial illustrate the advantages of feeding cactus. Twelve heifers weighing an average of 550 pounds were fed a ration of hay and cottonseed meal for approximately three months. Half the heifers also were allowed to eat as much cactus as they wanted.

At the end of the feeding period, cattle which had eaten the cactus and hay diet had gained 62 pounds more, on the average, than those on the hay diet.

Furthermore, the study showed that cactus is more readily and completely digestible than hay.

"If tools and more practical methods of harvesting and singeing can be developed, feeding cactus as a winter supplement may become common practice in Texas," White said.

"He that can endure all can dare all," Vauvargues

'75 Livestock Statistics Available

AUSTIN—The 1975 Texas Livestock Statistics book has been published, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has announced.

"The book presents up-to-date county estimates for cattle, hogs, sheep and goats on ranches and farms," White said.

Information such as imports and exports of cattle and calves into and out of the state, receipts of livestock at Texas auction markets and consumption of red meats is also contained in the book.

A free copy of 1975 Texas Livestock Statistics may be obtained by writing Commissioner John C. White, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

Statistics Published

AUSTIN—According to the recently-published 1975 Texas Vegetable Statistics book, Texas ranked fifth in the nation in total vegetable production.

The publication also contains such information as the leading Texas counties in production of various

Drinking Myths Can Fool You

Are you a "mything person" where drinking alcoholic beverages is concerned? If so, there are some false confidences and taking risks are common by-products of alcoholic beverage consumption.

Do you rush in from cold Texas weather and have a drink to warm up? That drink will actually be lowering your body temperature. A false sensation of warmth may occur because the blood vessels on the surface of the skin become dilated. Actually, more heat can be lost than gained by the "warming" effect.

Do you believe in the sobering up remedies of coffee, a cold shower, fresh air or a run around the block? Time is the only true remedy for reducing the effects of alcohol. The ethyl alcohol must leave the body by oxidation in the liver, and this process cannot be rushed. (The old joke about coffee producing a wide awake drunk is true.)

The body needs about one hour to get rid of the alcoholic in one average drink.

Do you swear by the old adage that it's mixing your drinks that gets you drunk? The truth is that ethyl alcohol, the intoxicant, is found in all alcoholic beverages. The same concentration of alcohol in the blood is produced from 3 1/2 ounces of wine as from a 12-ounce bottle of beer or 3/4-ounce of 100 proof whiskey, though the volume of the drink differs. So staying with one kind of drink offers no advantage; only the amount you drink can control the degree of intoxication.

Baptists Pray For Awakening

Texas Baptist leaders Tuesday pledged to pray for a great statewide spiritual awakening and called on their executive director to serve two additional years in leading them to carry out a plan for sharing the Gospel of Jesus Christ with all Texans.

The 192-member Executive Board of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, meeting in Dallas, pledged prayer support for "Good News Texas," a multimedia evangelistic campaign planned early in 1977.

Dr. James H. Landes, who conceived the campaign while serving as executive director of Texas' two million Southern Baptists, was asked to serve two years beyond his normal retirement at the end of 1977.

Obviously moved by the board's action, Dr. Landes promised that "I will be praying with you about the future and will be giving you a certain word right away."

Dr. Landes, in his first three years, has expressed deep concern for the 4.7 million Texans who are not members of any church. About a year ago he presented plans for television, radio, newspaper, and billboard promotion to tell all Texans of God's love.

Texas Baptists will spend more than $1 million for the multimedia presentation of the Gospel (Good News) of Jesus Christ. The state has been divided into three regions for the campaign.

Donated Foods Still Available

Donated foods will continue to be available from the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) for mass disaster feeding.

USDA said it has withdrawn a proposed change in its food distribution regulations, under which USDA-donated foods would have been distributed for mass feeding only after the declaration of a major disaster or emergency, and only at the direction of the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration.

Rockdale Tigers District 23AA State Champions

Christmas came early for the Rockdale Tigers as they became the State 2A Champions, defeating the Childress Bobcats 23-6 in Texas Stadium.

Defense was the key factor in the final 2A showdown, as Rockdale put together an iron clad defense that was not to be penetrated but once all night. The Rockdale defense was at its best, breaking play after play to hold the Bobcats to only 71 total offensive yards. The Rockdale defense was led by Mario Garza, Lewis Stewart, and Gary White, all of which put in superb defensive performances for the Tigers.

The first quarter was a defensive standoff with both teams defense doing outstanding jobs and it was not until the second stanza that the Tiger offense put together their first drive that put points on the scoreboard. With less than seven second elapsing in the second quarter the Tigers hit pay dirt as fullback Robert Luetge took the pigskin and added 39 yards for the score. Randy Leech tacked on the extra point and the Tigers led 7-0. Luetge proved to be the man to call on as he rushed for 161 yards in 20 carries and tallied one touchdown to aid the Tigers' winning effort.

The Bobcats were not to be denied as they took the ball for 47 yards in 7 plays to score. The drive was kept alive with a 15-yard penalty, while the key play was a fine pass from quarterback Ricky Collinworth to Chuck Weaver for 14 yards. Jeff Smith also aided the attack with a fine running attack. Smith went the final 2 yards for the score. The extra point try went wide and the margin was narrowed, 7-6, with 6:57 left in the half.

The Bobcats' score was all it took to get the mighty Tigers offense on its feet again. The Tigers began at their own 19 yard line and in four plays had again scored. The Tigers rambled 75 yards in two plays as Robert Luetge took the ball 72 yards and 2 plays later Gary White lunged over the goal from 4 yards out. The extra point try failed and Rockdale was again in the lead, 13-6.

At this point defenses for both teams tightened and it looked as if the scoring was over for the half.

The Tigers felt differently as they took the ball from the Bobcat 47 and drove 15 yards into 'Cat country and with 5 seconds left in the half, kicking expert Randy Leech booted a 42-yard field goal. As the half ended the Tigers were in the lead, 16-6. The tension rose as the Rockdale fans couldn't breathe easy with 24 minutes of football left, but the Tigers came out in the third quarter looking like a new ball team.

The third quarter was a punting battle, seeing the Tigers punt the ball away three times and the Bobcats punting twice before culminating a drive that ended the third period and went three plays into the fourth quarter before they were forced to punt the ball away.

Mid-way through the final stanza the Tigers had backed the Bobcats up into their own end zone and forced them into a punting situation. The punt was short and only made it to the Bobcat 37 where the Tigers took over. With 3:37 left in the game and the second play from scrimmage, Gary White took the ball 37 yards for the score. Randy Leech again added the PAT and the Tigers had put the icing on the cake with the final score and wrapping up the State Championship, 23-6.

The Bobcats left the field used and abused while the Tigers had their victory celebration on the 50 yard line of Texas Stadium.

The Tigers came, they saw, and they conquered. A long, hard season has ended and the Rockdale Tigers have done what they had set out to do--become the State 2A Champions--the best 2A team in the state.

The price of electricity must continue to go up.

Texas Power & Light wants its customers to know why.

Since TP&L began operation almost 65 years ago, providing dependable electric service at a fair price has been a constant aim.

One measure of accomplishment of this aim is the fact that today, the average price of each kilowatt-hour of electricity supplied to residential customers is about the same as it was in 1951.

In 1963 and 1965, TP&L made the eleventh and twelfth general reductions in the price since it began operation. The average price of residential electricity dropped from about 4 cents per kilowatt-hour in 1951 to about 2 cents per kilowatt-hour in 1971.

Costs of producing and supplying electric power began to go up at an unprecedented rate in the early 1970's. In 1972, 1974 and again in 1975, it was necessary for TP&L to ask its customers to pay more for their electricity. The average per kilowatt-hour price rose from about 2 cents in 1971 to about 4 cents in 1976.

In the 1970-1975 period, TP&L's annual expenditures for constructing generating plants, transmission lines and other facilities increased from $98 million in 1970 to $268 million in 1975. These expenditures are expected to be several billion dollars in the next 10 years.

Fuels used to produce electricity cost $26 million in 1970 and $147 million in 1975. The cost of fuels will be almost $200 million in 1976.

Texas Power & Light will continue its efforts to provide you and all of its customers with dependable electric service at the lowest possible price. But, as our costs go up, so must the price of electricity.

Civic Garden Club

Mrs. Alvin L. Dusek was hostess at her home when the Civic Garden Club met for their December meeting on Thursday. Her home was beautiful in all of its Christmas array.

During the social hour, which preceded the meeting, Mrs. Dusek served an assortment of festive foods with hot spiced apple juice.

In lieu of the Christmas flower show which was to have been held on Dec. 9 and was cancelled for reasons beyond control of the club, Mrs. LeFuchs presented flower slides of yesterday as Mrs. Milton Falkner gave commentary along describing the exhibits and identifying the arranger. In former years the members of Civic Garden Club presented magnificent flower shows which were mostly staged in vacant buildings in the downtown area.

CONE CAKE

1 (17-ounce) package DROMEDARY Pound Cake Mix
3/4 cup milk
2 eggs
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 pound confectioners' sugar
1 egg
2 tablespoons rum
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1/8 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup chopped pistachio nuts
2 squares (2 ounces) unsweetened chocolate, melted
1 teaspoon instant coffee
Blanched almonds

Prepare and bake DROMEDARY Pound Cake Mix according to package directions, using 3/4 cup milk, 2 eggs and a greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Cool completely. To make frosting, beat butter and margarine until creamy; gradually add confectioners' sugar, beating until smooth. Beat in egg; then next three ingredients. Measure 1 cup; combine with 1/4 cup of the pistachio nuts. Combine chocolate and instant coffee; stir into remainder of frosting. Cut cake horizontally into three layers; then cut into cone shape. Spread pistachio-rum frosting on two of the layers and stack, using rounded one on top. Spread chocolate frosting over top and sides of cone. Make indentations with small knife. Stud top with almonds; then garnish top and sides with remaining pistachio nuts. Makes about 12 (3/4-inch) slices.

In last Monday's paper the Busy Bee Day School announcement about the program December 20, these names were omitted: Marsha Day, Christopher Evan, Brian Giesensich, and Don Glass.

BIRTHS

To Mr. and Mrs. Walter Joseph Wallace Jr., a boy, Walter Joseph III, born at 5:50 a.m. on Dec. 13 and weighed 8 pounds 8 1/2 ounce. He was born in St. Edward Hospital.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Vance B. McDonald and Walter Wallace Sr.

Great grandfather is George M. McDonald of Houston. Great grandmother is Mrs. J. H. James of Pinehurst and Josephine Story of Cameron.

Ballet Master for the Dallas Ballet Gene Tanner came to Temple in October to cast the children's roles and teach the choreography to the CAC's ballet instructor Margaret Newcombe, who has conducted weekly rehearsals since then. The children will have three rehearsals with the professional company in Temple prior to the performance.

CAC Executive Director Gary Moore states "This is a tremendous opportunity for young artists in our community to participate in a fully staged professional production and gain additional skills through first-hand experience."

Tickets are currently on sale through the CAC, 773-9926. Both reserved seats and general admission tickets are available with special group rates for clubs and organizations.

If you happen to over-salt soup, cut a potato in slices and boil it in the soup to absorb the salt. Then discard the slices.

A FRUITFUL IDEA

Not to mince matters, you can make mincemeat out of a lot of fruits, and it will become a sweet way to top desserts, fill pies, flavor yogurt or even garnish meats.

FRUITY MINCEMEAT

1 box (15 oz.) seedless raisins
1 cup dried apricot halves
1 cup pitted prunes
1 cup dried figs
2 lbs. tart apples, peeled and cored
2 lbs. firm pears, peeled and cored
1 large seedless orange, unpeeled
1 lemon, unpeeled but seeded
1-1/2 cups chopped walnuts
1 lb. brown sugar
1-1/2 teaspoons cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon each: nutmeg, cloves, ginger
1 cup Bourbon or brandy or rum

Grind fruit in the order given through the coarse blade of a food chopper. Stir in nuts, sugar, spice and choice of spirits. Spoon into jars and cover. Store in a cool, dry place. Makes about 3 quarts.

Not only can this mincemeat put spice into a meal, it grows in appeal the longer you keep it.

ENGAGED--Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Titworth of Cameron have announced the engagement of their daughter, Tina, to Larry Strmiska of Granger. A January 29 wedding is planned in Saint Cyril Methodius Church in Granger.
